Troubled in the Financial World About Gold.

People Will Probably Be Forced Soon to Buy Silver With a Discount Between the Two Metals.

Washington, April 28.—The gold reserve of $200,000,000 in the treasury has been broken and the shipments of the "yellow metal" Saturday to Europe have been several hundred thousand ounces. It is a state of affairs, that the government, especially so, though the Harrison administration feared its coming over since the beginning of war.

It was easy to understand that the treasury, were broken the gold reserve, and the gold dollar would command a premium at once. This, with the superabundance of the deposits of silver, would make a great difficulty between the two metals.

The refusal to issue gold certificates was tried last week and it was proposed to refuse to issue gold for treasury notes. This would have made a bad thing worse. A gold plan was proposed, and that was to buy gold with silver certificates, and to pay a premium for transportation if necessary.

As a last resort, the government might be forced to issue gold certificates, and to pay a premium for transportation if necessary. This would have made a bad thing worse.

RENDEZVOUS.

Twenty-Seven Vessels to Leave Hampton Roads.

Great Crowds of Visitors at Fort Monroe Sunday—Admiral Gherardi Feels the Responsibility Which Rest Upon Him as Commander-in-Chief.

Fort Monroe, Va., April 28.—Twenty-seven ships of war will sail from here at 10 o'clock Monday for New York. At that hour the tide running out to sea will have swung the massive hulls, and the sharp prow will be pointed toward the ocean. This is a matter of no small importance, as an attempt to turn all the ships at once would be a most dangerous experiment.

There was no rest for Admiral Gherardi Sunday. Natural flags were running up and down from the yard from the Philadelphia, and red messengers went hurriedly in plunging launches from ship to ship, and the typewriter in the admiral's office went at a pace almost as rapid as the tide.

Several times Sunday he was upon the bridge of the Philadelphia, viewing with anxious eyes the gathering clouds, and wondering if the gale would abate. Everybody here is naturally hoping that the weather in New York will be fair, but the seasoned old salts, who know all about the weather, shook their heads dubiously Sunday.

The wind has been blowing from the northeast and is brisk and cold. It whistled Sunday morning most ominously through the rigging of the Chicago, and stiffened the signal flags on the Philadelphia into a semblance of frozen busting.

The sea ran heavy, great waves breaking against the sides of the vessels, and threatening with destruction the little launches in which venturers excursionists put off from shore.

The forbidding weather was unpropitious for the crowds, who, with the earliest morning boats, began to swell the already too numerous colony here.

The steamers from Washington, Norfolk and Baltimore were loaded with passengers; the incoming trains bore their quota of sightseers, and every craft in Norfolk harbor seemed to have been utilized to carry people who wanted to get a final look at the men of war.

It is believed that the government will be forced to issue gold certificates, and to pay a premium for transportation if necessary. This would have made a bad thing worse.

NEW "WHITE HOUSE."

President Cleveland Considering the Question of Moving His Office Into Other Quarters.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—It is said that the president is seriously considering the question of moving his office for the transaction of executive business from the white house to suitable quarters in the state, war and navy building.

It is proposed that the suite of rooms on the second floor of the war department, in the north wing of the building, formerly occupied by the secretary of war, shall be converted into a business office for the president. They are handsomely decorated, admirably adapted for the purpose, and the only objection is their northern exposure. There is a large ante-room, a general reception room, or business office, and also an adjoining room for private consultation. The latter is a small room, and some of his callers an opportunity for a few words of confidential conversation, a privilege not enjoyed under the present arrangements at the white house.

There are said to be precedents for this course, and the case of Andrew Johnson, shortly after the death of Abraham Lincoln, is the most recent citation. Mr. Johnson, instead of taking possession of the official apartments of the executive mansion and transacting the business of the government from a private office in the western wing of the treasury department in the rooms now occupied by the controller of the currency or the director of the mint. There he received his business callers and transacted the bulk of his executive business.

SAIL AND STEAM.

The Best Ships of Our Navy and Those of Foreign Visitors.

Set Sail for New York, Where, on Thursday, They Will Be Met by the Demonstrations Ever Witnessed Will Be Had—How They Formed.

Fort Monroe, Va., April 28.—At a few minutes after 9 o'clock Monday morning a small cloud of light smoke floated out above the big yellow funnel of the Philadelphia. At the same time from the funnels of the thirty-one other men-of-war in the roads came other little puffs of smoke. Gradually they grew in volume until by 9 o'clock the whole fleet was puffing forth like the chimneys of some manufacturing town.

Sunday night at sunset the Brazilian fleet, consisting of the cruisers Aquidaban, Tiradentes and Republica came in the roads and dropped anchor below the English fleet. The first saluting of the morning came from the Aquidaban, which belched out a welcome to the Italian admiral and ran up his flag at 8 o'clock.

From early Monday morning the signaling of orders has been continuous and sometimes has been supplemented by the visit of one of the launches from the flagships bearing some special order. The whole programme, however, had been carefully prepared and each commodore knew what his position in the formation was to be and only awaited the order to trip anchor.

At 9:15 o'clock the Philadelphia's anchor came slowly out of the water, and at the same time, a slight agitation of the water at the stern showed that she was in motion.

The tide at this time was at its young ebb, and the ships of the fleet lay with their noses turned up the road pointing toward Newport News.

The Philadelphia moved up slowly at first and then gathering speed passed more quickly down toward the westerly end of the roads. In another moment the Newark was under way behind the Philadelphia. She was followed by the Atlanta. Then came the dandy San Francisco, the Hancock, Bennington and Baltimore.

Then Admiral Walker's flagship, the Chicago, joined the procession. After her came the Yorktown, Charleston, Vesuvius and Concord. As soon as the Chicago tripped anchor the big flagship Blake got under way and turning almost on her heels, started down the roads to assume her position of honor at the head of the starboard column of the fleet.

The other Englishmen got under way at the same time and followed behind the Blake. As the Vesuvius, the last of the American fleet, dropped into the line, the Hollandia, Van Speyk, trailed along behind her.

Then came the Germans with the Kaiserin Augusta and the Seidler. The Philadelphia, at the head of the column, proceeded for a mile and then, rounding the entire fleet, started down the roads. The last of the English fleet was composed of the English ships, the Russian Gen. Admiral and Reyna and French Athene and Jean Bart, the Italian Etna and Giovanni Bausan, and the rear was brought up by the Brazilian Aquidaban, Tiradentes and Republica.

At 11 o'clock the whole fleet, in two regular lines, passed in review before the thousands on the wharves, boats and ramparts of the fort.

The sight was so beautiful and impressive that the crowds looked on in silence. It took something to disrupt the serenity of the scene, and it was furnished by the little torpedo boat Oyster.

When the last one of the Americans was passing the fort cheers were heard away down beyond the hotel. The crowd along the way took it up, and in a moment the Cushing came along like a salvo from the stretch.

The outgoing ships were making about eight knots, and the Cushing, which can go twenty-four, caught up and passed them as if they were anchored.

Not since 1878 has there been such a spell of weather in April as the one just ended. A good lot of hope is ended. People who make garden in the winter have lost all their beans, tomatoes and potatoes, while suffering humanity still wears its woollen shirt and goes about shrouded in overcoats and gloom.

The Juvenile Opera.

When it was determined to raise a fund sufficient to remove and remodel the parsonage of the M. E. Church South various classes in the Sunday School agreed to contribute liberally to the good cause. The classes of Mrs. M. W. Hiner and Mrs. J. W. M. Stewart contributed ten dollars each, and to raise this amount an entertainment was projected by these ladies, and last Wednesday evening saw a delightfully successful fruition of their hopes. Masonic Hall was packed with an audience which testified by numerous and hearty expressions of satisfaction and approbation that our children are talented, and that most competent hands had trained them for the auspicious event.

The principal feature of the evening's entertainment was "Spring," a cantata full of charming solos and choruses. "Spring" in the person of Miss Nora Borders, called from their winter's sleep the violets, hyacinths and other flowers, and each told their fragrant story in pleasant recital and melodious verse. Miss Borders looked and sang her somewhat trying part gracefully and well. In fact the whole little opera was given with a precision and effect seldom achieved by amateurs.

The cantata was preceded by a pot-pourri of song and recitation which fairly captured the house. The tiny toddler, the blooming maiden, the winsome lad, even the "three small boys"—all contributed generously and well to the pleasure of the appreciative audience.

We confess that the temptation to speak particularly is strong, but when all, without exception, did so well it would be unfair to mention names. Each one who helped in the least at the evening's performance merits the plaudit of "well done." Artistically, socially and financially the Juvenile Opera succeeded beyond all expectation. As a community we are greatly indebted to Mesdames Hiner and Stewart for a pleasant evening, and their church should be grateful for the liberal sum added to the parsonage fund.

Court Proceedings.

The regular jury was discharged yesterday morning and the Court will probably adjourn to-day. Since our last issue there have been some important convictions. Notably, Sam Davis for the murder of his mistress, Vina Pack, committed on George's Creek nearly five years ago, and Sam Smith for killing John Chaffin, on Cat's Fork. Davis was sentenced to the penitentiary for life and Smith for 12 years.

Ed Carter got one year for breaking into a barn and Jim Frazier got 2 years for the same offence. William Pack was sent up for one year for burglary, and "Red Headed" Bill Thompson got a two years term for shooting and wounding John Short. Frank Richardson and Drew Compton, whose sentence we noticed last week, Carter, Frazier, Smith and Pack were brought out and sentenced yesterday morning, while Davis and Thompson will probably be sentenced to-day. We understand that Davis will file grounds for a new trial, and if the motion is overruled his counsel will take an appeal.

The prompt and efficient action of Judge Kinner and Prosecutor Redwine has done much to purify the moral atmosphere of this county. Some of these criminals have been open, defiant and persistent violators of the law. Justice has been a little slow-footed but it has reached them at last. Law abiding people rejoice and evil doers may take the lesson to heart.

David Williams and Hige Holbrook, charged with killing John Ferguson, were promptly acquitted. Williams acted in self defence and Holbrook had no hand in the killing. The case of Nathan Gambill, charged with the murder of Sparks, was continued.

Commendable Work.

The term of court just closing is the most satisfactory to the good people in its results of any which has been held here in quite a long time. Impressed with the importance of relieving the burdened criminal docket Judge Kinner took heroic measures to try as many of the cases as possible. The entire time of the court was given to criminal cases and no dallying tactics were worth anything. For instance, a witness for the defense in one of the murder cases disappeared just before his time came to testify. Prosecutor Redwine insisted upon having him brought in, and the Judge ordered a search for the missing man, the jury being held over. Another jury was at once empaneled and work was begun on another murder case. After a two days' search the witness was found and brought before the Judge, who fined him to the extent of the law and placed him in jail to await the call of the court. His name was Heman Kitchen and he was a witness in the Samp Smith case. The action of the court is highly commended.

Hon. S. G. Kinner has a worthy successor as Commonwealth's Attorney in the person of Hon. M. M. Redwine. More earnest and effective work has probably never before been done here in the duties of this important office. His inhous throughout bore unmistakable signs of earnestness and a consciousness of the importance of his position as regards the welfare of our State. His efforts have excited much favorable comment and challenged the admiration of the law-abiding portion of the populace. His forcible arguments before the juries have been much talked about. Mr. Redwine hopes to be able at the next term of court to rid the docket of the worst cases and get it down to at least what might be called a normal condition.

A Bold Robbery.

On last Saturday night G. B. Gray's grocery store was broken into and a few goods are missing; among other things a new butcher knife, whereby hangs the tale of another robbery. The fellow called on D. M. Jones, the photographer, about three o'clock in the morning. It was not Mr. Jones hour for "receiving," however. The caller nevertheless proceeded to make himself at home. He was evidently governed by Japanese etiquette, for he had doffed his shoes before coming into the house. His familiar feelings soon led him into Mr. Jones' pockets, where he found about $12. He turned up the lamp and examined his find, when Mr. Jones awoke and addressed his caller with "Say, partner, what do you want?" A gleam of the butcher knife was all the answer needed to keep Mr. Jones in bed, and the visitor showed his versatility by taking French leave. He left the butcher knife in the yard. Mr. Jones thinks he had seen the fellow before, but not since.

Acquitted.

The case against Dave Williams and Hige Holbrook for killing John Ferguson was disposed of Monday by the acquittal of the defendant on the grounds of self defense. The killing occurred on Gaines creek about six weeks ago. Ferguson had the reputation of a very bad man.

The report received here last week just before the News went to press, stating five men were killed in the railroad accident near Ceredo, was erroneous. The accident was a bad one, however, one man losing his life and a number of others being badly injured. It was a Huntington & Big Sandy dummy train of two cars, one being well filled with passengers, and was running backward. A derrick was stationed alongside the trestle where the accident occurred and the beam had swung around far enough to catch the car. It caught and lifted it from the trestle, and the other car followed. The locomotive kept its place. The cars were smashed into kindling wood by the fall and all the passengers hurt. Conductor McCreary's neck was broken. He was to have been married in two weeks and was carrying a $1,000 life insurance policy payable to his affianced, a young lady of Ironton.

Last week Marshal DeRossett brought out the shovel brigade, and the wagon corps, and the result was a much improved appearance of the streets. Our citizens are using the whitewash brush on trees, fences and out-buildings, and the town looks fine. All this is highly commendable and is excellent as far as it goes. But it does not go far enough. What we need is a thorough and complete cleaning up. Many things which offend the eye have been removed, but many things which offend the nose remain, and it is these which breed disease and pestilence. As pain is the danger signal which tells the physician that something is wrong in our physical economy, so is a bad smell the unmistakable evidence of a foe which, if not routed slays its hosts. If a bad odor pervades your premises cease not your labor until you find its cause. Remove the cause and disinfect.

A pound of copperas dissolved in a bucket of water and thrown into a foul vault will neutralize the poisonous vapors arising therefrom. This will cost you five cents. Lime sprinkled freely in damp places absorbs the moisture and renders you less liable to contract malaria. A bushel of lime does not cost as much as a pint of mean whisky. Look to your water supply. Water which has any odor whatever is not fit to drink. Finally, live temperately. Eschew pistols, whisky and strange women, and Collins and the constable will have little use for you.

The Paintsville Courier says the reported finding of gold on Greasy Creek, in Johnson county, was an April Fool's Joke. If there is any gold to be found in the Big Sandy valley, it will be found by the opening up of the wealth of that rich region through the agency and efforts of the enterprising men now engaged in projecting a railroad from White House into the heart of the Sandy region. These energetic Big Sandians will find gold in the way the farmer set his sons to find it—by hard digging.—Courier Journal.

Rosa Koonitz, the daughter of respectable and well-to-do people of Ashland, Ky., was held to the Grand Jury at Huntington in the sum of $1000, and in default of bail was sent to jail.

The charge is bigamy. Ross, who is a handsome girl, went to Charleston several years ago, where she met the present jailer of Fayette County, "Bud" King, who married her.

Shortly after the honeymoon she left him, came to this city and married a coal black negro, and stated to-day that he had treated her better than King.

The girl has been well educated, but she seems thoroughly infatuated with her negro husband.

The Sentinel Democrat says:—"It never was recorded of President Cleveland that he laughed until it was shown up in cold type in the Louisville Times' Washington dispatch Tuesday, and John P. Salyer of West Liberty, provided the hilarity of the occasion. The Times correspondent speaking of a visit to the White House of several Kentucky gentlemen says: "After the introductions Col. Salyer remarked: "We represent Mr. President, the rear guard of the unarmed Watterson Kentuckians, and we are here to see that the boys get through all right."

The President laughed and said that the rear guard was a fine looking body of men."

SUNSHINE.

There's a vast difference in Northern and Southern girls," writes a Northern girl in the Chicago Record. "Southern girls are much more attractive to men. Every once in a while some Louisville, or Memphis, or Virginia girl comes up here and fairly walks away with every eligible man she meets. She is usually prettier, but rarely as stylish as her Northern sister. The former cares more for prettiness than style, though, and wears more dainty little curls and bows than a Northern girl would don in a lifetime. It isn't exactly good form, we think, but she doesn't know that, and if she did, she wouldn't care, for 'the boys like it,' and then her voice is so soft and her Southern pronunciation is simply delicious. Her manners are charming, never coldly conventional or indifferent, as ours often are. And she does make such a fuss over the man. She exerts herself to please them, and lays herself out to be charming to every one who comes along to be kind or young, rich or poor, married or unmarried."

Persons who are subject to attacks of bilious colic can almost invariably tell, by their feeling, when to expect an attack. If Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is taken as soon as these symptoms appear, they can be quickly relieved. Such persons should always keep the Remedy at hand, ready for immediate use when needed. Two or three doses of it at the right time will save them much suffering. For sale by A. M. Hughes, Louisville, Kentucky.

Why do not people who "love money" buy their HOTEL accommodations same as they buy anything else, the most value for the least money? Because Landlords are generally HANDED. Shop John, you are mistaken. We all know it is that they transplant the "root of all evil" so as to give the least value for the most money. However we know of ONE exception in the business center of Chicago.
